ROOSEVELT URGES NEW LABOR LEGISLATION

President Sends Special Message On Labor Laws

Urges Laws Giving Some Control Over Hours, Wages And Child Labor

SPECIFIC FIGURES ARE NOT INCLUDED

Says Congress Should Have Little Trouble In Arriving At Basic Formula

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 24.—In one of the most important proposals of his White House incumbency, President Roosevelt today called upon this session of congress to enact legislation giving the government "some control over maximum hours, minimum wages, the evil of child labor and the exploitation of child labor."

A special message to congress outlined his philosophy, which followed the essence of the outlawed NRA.

Did Not Specify Hours

The president did not specify the maximum hours or minimum wages he desires. Congress, he said, should have little trouble in arriving at a basic formula.

Legislation will establish it on a flexible basis of a 35-to-40 hour week and a 40-cent an hour minimum wage.

Of prime interest to industry, Mr. Roosevelt further proposed:

"That only goods which have been produced under conditions which meet the minimum standards of free labor shall be admitted to interstate commerce."

Need Further Action

Possibly anticipating constitutional objections the president advised congress:

"The time has arrived for us to

Plan For Flight Moscow To U. S. Over North Pole

Soviet Flier To Attempt Trip With Stop Over At Pole Soon

DICTATOR STALIN SELECTS FLIER

Levanevsky Is Choice — Made One Attempt At Trip In 1935

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, May 24.—Moscow to San Francisco—with a stop-off at the North Pole!

This dream neared realization today when Dictator Josef Stalin nominated Sigismund Levanevsky, who attempted a similar flight two years ago, to be first to use the new North Pole air base in a hop to America.

Flying a big Douglas plane, Levanevsky will take off some time this summer. He will attempt to make the trans-polar journey in one jump, using the weather reports flashed from the arctic base, and landing there if necessary.

Forced Back

A broken feed line forced Levanevsky back when he was well out over the Arctic on his August, 1935, attempt to reach San Francisco.

Stalin's choice of Levanevsky was

Negro Sexton Got "Last Dime"

(International News Service)

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., May 24—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who devoted the latter years of his life to giving away millions, gave his "last dime" to Jim Davis, negro sexton of the Ormond Union church, where the oil magnate worshipped for many years.

Mr. Rockefeller used to carry a pocket full of dimes which he gave away to friends, but this practice was abandoned during his last few years when ill health kept him from mingling with friends.

Honeymoon Plans Of Duke Changed

Will Not Make Yacht Trip It Is Announced This Morning

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MONTS, France, May 24.—Mrs. Wallis Warfield's distaste for airplanes, and the Duke of Windsor's seeming difficulty in borrowing a yacht, will confine their honeymoon to the land.

"You can rule out the possibility of a yacht honeymoon," Herman L. Rogers, spokesman for the Duke, said today.

"They will definitely go by auto and train, since Mrs. Warfield does not like flying. Maybe I'll be able to tell you the place later."

At first the ex-king had considered using the Duke of Westminster's yacht. But Westminster himself has a fishing trip planned for June.

Anger overcame the Duke of Windsor today after a long siege of baseless reports published abroad.

The former British king, it was learned, was particularly annoyed by a story that he was knitting a pullover sweater for Mrs. Wallis Warfild, whom he is marrying June 3.

Uncle Sam Will Get Little From Rockefeller's Estate

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The so-called richest man in the world is dead, but the federal government anticipates getting but little if anything from his estate in the shape of taxes.

John D. Rockefeller is thought to have given away most of his enormous fortune long before he died.

Treasury tax authorities base their belief that little of Rockefeller's estate will be taxable on the fact that in recent years the aged oil magnate paid relatively little in income taxes.

Rockefeller To Be Buried At Cleveland, O.

Plans Are Made For Final Tribute To World Famous Philanthropist

DEATH OCCURS IN FLORIDA SUNDAY

Noted Rich Man Had Almost Achieved His Goal Of Living To Be 100 Years Old

(International News Service)

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., May 24.—Flags fluttered at half mast here today for "Neighbor John" as residents bade their final farewell to John D. Rockefeller, Sr.

The world famous philanthropist, long since retired from active participation in business, had hoped to complete a century of life. But death, due to weakening of the heart, shattered that dream at 4:05 Sunday morning, a trifle more than two years and a month short of the multi-millionaire's cherished goal.

Rockefeller would have been 98 on July 8 but death overtook him rather unexpectedly. It came so suddenly to the founder of the Standard Oil empire that none of his immediate family was with him at the end.

But news of his passing spread rapidly. With tribute being paid to him in all parts of the world, Rockefeller's body will be placed in a special car on a northbound train for his North Tarrytown, N. Y., home today.

Burial In Cleveland

At his Pocantico Hills home there, simple private funeral services are to be conducted Wednesday. Burial will take place Thursday in Lakeview cemetery, at Cleveland, O. There the man who gave more than $530,000,000 to charity and various institutions will join his wife, Laura Spelman Rockefeller, who died on March 12, 1915.

The time of the departure of Rockefeller's body from his winter home—"The Casements"—was guarded closely here. Reliable reports, however, were that the special car in which it will be placed will be attached to a regular train which leaves Ormond Beach at 5 p. m. (E. S. T.)

The coach, it was reported, will not be attached to the train at the

A. F. Of L. Plans For Campaign

Undaunted By Widespread Gains Reported By C. I. O. Recently

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., May 24.—Apparently undaunted by widespread gains of the rival John L. Lewis CIO union, William Green, American Federation of Labor president, conferred here today with hundreds of national union leaders on means of financing a huge membership campaign.

The conferences, attended by 300 to 400 A. F. L. chiefs, were to continue through Wednesday, climaxed by a meeting of the executive council.

While Green and other A. F. of L. spokesman insisted their projected membership drive was motivated solely by increased demands for union organization, arising from operation of the Wagner labor act. The CIO and its leaders were bitterly assailed.

Green himself branded his rivals "poor sports", saying they refused to abide by the majority decision, arrived at by proper parliamentary procedure, to continue to organize labor by crafts instead of by industry.

Disputes With Three Other Large Independents Not Near Settlement

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 24.—Conferences were scheduled for today and tomorrow with two independent steel companies employing 29,000 men—the Crucible Steel Co. and Inland Steel Corp.—which CIO steel leaders felt would result in peaceful agreements.

At the same time, however, CIO leaders were frankly pessimistic over the chances for peaceful settlement of their disputes with three of the industry's largest producers, Bethlehem Steel Corp., Republic Steel Co., and Youngstown Sheet & Tube, which together employ 163,000 men.

Final Choice.

At the meeting today with Crucible Steel officials of that company will be given a "final" choice of signing a contract similar to those signed with U. S. Steel subsidiaries or agreeing to a Wagner act election, in which case the CIO would expect to obtain a contract making it the sole bargaining agency for all employes of the company should it win the election.

Similar terms will be presented tomorrow to Inland Steel, the largest independent in the Chicago area.

Negotiations with the other three independents, however, have come to a halt, following their flat re-

Halt Petition In Behalf Of Sen. Robinson

Friends Await Decision Of President On Court Appointment

ATTITUDE MAY BE KNOWN SOON

Lull In Battle Over Court Plan Pending Decision On Appointment

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Friends of Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the "choice" of congress for appointment to the supreme court, today halted circulation of a round-robin in his behalf. They feared it might jeopardize his chances of gaining the judicial robes.

The original plan was to have virtually all senators and several hundred representatives, Democrats and Republicans, sign a round-robin, endorsing the Democratic leader of the senate for appointment to the post to be vacated by Associate Justice Willis Van Devanter June 2. His friends now feel such action might be interpreted as an effort of congress to dictate to the president.

Friends of Robinson conceded his conservative background and his age—he will be 65 in August—reacted against his appointment. On the other hand, they argued his long party service in congress and his able leadership in the senate since March 4, 1933, justified his appointment.

Await Decision

All activity on the president's supreme court enlargement bill was postponed pending the president's decision on Robinson. It was generally accepted in congressional circles that if the president decides to name Robinson, he will announce the appointment June 3. If no such announcement is forthcoming from the White House on that date, it will be assumed generally the president has decided to name a younger man in keeping with his desire to infuse "young blood" into the high court.

There was every indication that, once the Robinson matter is settled, the battle over the president's court plan will go forward to a decision. The president has informed his leaders he is opposed to any compromise, even if he is defeated on the issue of increasing the court ultimately to fifteen justices.

Social Security Provisions Are Valid Says Court

Federal Unemployment Insurance Payroll Tax Held Constitutional

Old-Age Annuity Tax Is Also Held Valid By High Court Decree

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The Roosevelt administration's far-flung social security program was held constitutional in its major aspects by the supreme court today.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—The supreme court today held constitutional the old-age annuity tax of the federal social security law which affects 27,000,000 workers.

By its decision the high court makes possible continued operation of perhaps the most important provisions of the far-flung Social Security Act—provisions assuring pensions for millions over 65 years of age.

The high court reversed a decision of the first circuit court at Boston which had held the tax invalid as a scheme of old-age insurance beyond the constitutional power of congress.

It was announced that Justices McReynolds and Butler dissented.

Justice Butler dissented outright. Justices Sutherland and McReynolds wrote separate opinions and Justice Van Devanter, who has announced his retirement, concurred in the Sutherland opinion.

POLICE MERGER MAY PASS

Administration Has New Plan

Expect State Police And Motor Patrol Merger Move To Be Successful

MAKE CHANGES IN FINANCING PLAN

(International News Service

HARRISBURG, May 24.—The Earle administration was confident today it had surmounted the major objection to its plan for merging the state police and highway patrol into a new Pennsylvania motor police force. Enactment of the merger bill was predicted.

By an amendment already introduced administration spokesmen said the argument against using motor license fund moneys for support of the unified police unit would be spiked. The revision was worked out last week with the federal bureau of roads in Washington.

New Plan.

Briefly, the plan is this: to appropriate from the general fund $1,000,000 of the total estimated $6,000,000 expense of the merged force for use in motor police detective work; and to empower the governor to transfer approximately $5,000,000 from the motor fund to the general fund as money "specifically applicable to enforcement of the motor vehicle code."

Thus, it was explained, only that money clearly applicable to highway patrol work would be taken from the motor fund. Criminal detection, the major duty of the present state police, would continue to be paid for from the general fund.

The change would not alter budget estimates of $6,250,000 for the Pennsylvania motor police, it was pointed out.

AUTO ACCIDENT CAUSES DEATH OF COLLEGE YOUTH

omore of Venetia, Pa., suffering from a fractured skull and bad lacerations. May lose sight of one eye. His condition, too, is critical.

Goodchild was at the wheel of the machine as the group rode toward Youngstown. The car was crossing the narrow one-lane plank span over Deer creek when it got out of control.

Apparently it lurched suddenly when its front wheels struck the crossing planks, the car skidded violently and scraped an iron railing on the bridge, tore up a highway marker and then plunged into the trees on the left side of the road. The machine was wedged against the last. It was almost completely wrecked.

Not far back of the Goodchild car was another, driven by Paul W. Butler, another Westminster student, of 911 Court street, this city, who rushed young Goodchild to Youngstown. Other passing motorists hurried the three others there.

The party of Westminster students was enroute to the Ohio city in several cars for the Theta Upsilon sorority function. The girls were members of the sorority.

College Mourns Tragedy

Today the Westminster student body and the entire college town community mourned the tragedy. Goodchild and the others were very popular with classmates.

Young Goodchild, who was 21, had entered Westminster in September of 1934. As a student and as a leader in campus affairs he had established an enviable record. He was a "pre-medical" student and had almost completed majors in the fields of biology and chemistry in his junior year. He took an active part in intra-mural sports and had distinguished himself in dramatics. Only recently he played the lead role in a production. He was a member of Masquers, an honorary fraternity and was a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity. He had just recovered from scarlet fever.

He was a member of the First Presbyterian church.

Previous to entering Westminster he had distinguished himself at the Senior High school here. Before graduating in June of 1934, he had been president of his own class for three years and had been football manager in his senior year. He had taken part in several class plays.

Members of the Kiwanis club will remember him as a former Junior Kiwanian, one chosen for exceptional leadership at Senior high.

Surviving Mr. Goodchild are his father, James D. Goodchild, and his mother, Jane McKnight Goodchild, of Garfield avenue, and a brother, Chauncey G. Goodchild, an instructor of biology at New York University, New York. Other relatives are also left.

When the accident occurred about 7 on Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Goodchild were in New York visiting their other son, Chauncey.

The funeral service will be conducted from the Goodchild home at 105 Garfield avenue on Tuesday, May 25, at 2:30 p. m. Officiating will be the president of Westminster college, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath. Interment will be in Oak Park cemetery.

Here From India

James Clements, badly hurt, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clements, missionaries serving in Punjab, India. Only a few days ago they arrived in the United States on furlough and have been summoned to Youngstown. Clements came all the way from Lyall Pur, Punjab, India, to attend Westminster.

Miss Lybarger, also critical, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lybarger, 914 Cambridge road, Coshocton, O. She is a member of the college Y. W. C. A., the a capella choir, a member of the staff of the Holcad and is a major in the history department, of which she was an assistant.

Miss Wells is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Wells, Fairview, and is a member of the Y. W. C. A., and is an honor student. She is a laboratory assistant in biology and recently was awarded a graduate scholarship to Oberlin college.

Coroner Orville Potter and Corp. G. F. Keck, of the state highway patrol investigated the accident.

Scores of tickets, distributed throughout the city and county, were being purchased today. A throng is expected at the stadium.

The whole affair, in which the Senior high school, the George Washington and Ben Franklin junior highs and the Mahoning school's junior high division are the main participants, will benefit the cause of school band music locally.

The gate proceeds will help outfit the school band groups in new uniforms and instruments. The bigger the gate, the more extensive the band improvements can be.

Representing the volunteer citizens' group boosting the celebration is Richard E. Rentz, the pageant's general chairman. Alec Samuels is president of the organization.

"Everything's ready—and we hope the weatherman is kind," was young Mr. Rentz's final comment today.

"If it rains,' he added, "the parade and stadium activities will take place Wednesday night.'

Damage to business and residence properties, garages, industrial plants, power and telephone lines, streets and sidewalks was estimated at $75,000.

The injured who received first aid treatment at Buhl hospital and then were able to go to their homes were:

Mrs. Ralph Goddard and son Billy, five, of Pulaski.

Marjorie Merchant of Pulaski.

Anna Grace and Josephine O'Brien of Sharon.

Mary Wanco of Warren, O.

The six had been standing in the entrance of an East State street store when five large plate glass windows were demolished.

Police, firemen, street department forces and Pennsylvania Power company linemen worked all night to open streets and replace light and power lines.

Missionary Groups Will Meet Tuesday At Lutheran Church

Tomorrow night, May 25, the Women's Missionary Society will have its semi-annual open meeting at St. John's Lutheran church, near the intersection of East North and Neshannock avenues.

Plans have been completed for a very pleasant and profitable "evening with the missions" to open at 8 o'clock, and to be featured by an address from Mrs. H. F. Daubenspeck, of Ellwood City, a past president of the Women's Missionary Society of West Conference.

Missionary societies of St. Paul's and Bethany Lutheran churches will be special guests. The program will include several musical selections, and a social hour at the close.

Youngstown Rabbi Will Speak Here

The doner dinner-dance to be given in Temple Israel by members of the Temple Israel Sisterhood will be held Thursday, May 27, instead of May 25 as previously planned, according to announcement made today. At this event Rabbi Carl Manillo of Youngstown, O., will be guest speaker.

Rabbi Manillo will give a book review on "War Goes On," by Sholam Ashe, at this function. Of further interest will be the group of violin selections to be contributed by Vance Dufford of this city.

At Chicago today, according to SWOC headquarters here, officials of the American Steel Foundries Co., the largest in the field, will sign a CIO contract. The concern employs 5,000 men in 11 plants. Thus far 137 steel companies have signed contracts with the CIO, it was announced here, including 12 last week.

Other developments in steel included a Wagner act election to be held tomorrow at the Sharon, Pa., and Lowellville, O., plans of the Sharon Steel Hoop Co., employing 5,000. A similar election will be held June 9 and 10 at the Pittsburgh Steel Co., whose 5,800 employes went out on a short strike last week along with Jones & Laughlin Corp. employes.

Tomorrow also CIO and Jones & Laughlin officials will meet, pursuant to the agreement which ended the steel strike here last week, to sign a contract making the CIO steel union sole collective bargaining agency for all of the company's 30,000 employes.

FAITH

Did you ever stop at a store window where men's suits were on display, especially a window where there were no prices on them, and try to guess the different prices of the diffirent suits, then go in and ask the prices? The finest looking suit may be made of the cheapest cloth and with the poorest workmanship, and the plainest looking one may be made of the very best of both. It is mighty hard for the public to judge the price even in the matter of clothing.

The same rule holds good in caskets, vaults and so forth (only much more so, as the public is not familiar with them.) They are made of so many different materials and weights of materials and different kinds of construction that it is very difficult for anyone to judge by the price or the looks of them, but must depend on the experience and honesty of the Funeral Director.

MRS. R. J. CALLAHAN HONORED SATURDAY

A delightful dessert-bridge of Saturday afternoon, was that given by Mrs. Francis Sowersby of Pittsburgh, honoring her chum Mrs. Richard J. Callahan, nee Helen Blaha, also of Pittsburgh. The event, held in the form of a Kitchen shower, took place in the home of the hostess' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson, Sumner avenue, this city.

At 1:30 o'clock, tempting dessert was served at individual tables, centered with clusters of valley-lilies. The hostess, Mrs. Sowersby, was aided by her sister, Mrs. Eunice Johnston and sister-in-law, Mrs. George Shaklee, the latter of Youngstown, O. Card contests followed immediately afterwards.

In contract, smart prizes were awarded to Miss Hazel Bergland and Miss Sylvia Lee Martin, while in auction, Mrs. Francis Sowersby was the winner.

The afternoon festivities climaxed when the guest of honor was ushered into the dining room by Master Billy Johnston, who extended her "Cupids" invitation.

Upon entering, she found a miniature bridal party, in formation, centering the large table. Each little image was fully dressed in pastel crepe paper gowns, and large brimmed hats caught with tiny rose buds. They were guarded by tall lighted ivory candles. Surrounding this impressive scene, were prettily wrapped packages for the bride. When opened, she found a collection of many pretty and serviceable articles for use in her kitchen, further carrying out her color theme of red and ivory.

Mrs. Callahan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Blaha, former residents of New Castle, her wedding having taken place on April 27, this year. She is the wife of Dr. Richard J. Callahan, who is practicing in Pittsburgh.

ENGAGED COUPLE HONORED AT BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Crill proved pleasing hosts Saturday evening when they entertained informally at their home on Walnut street a group of guests as a courtesy to Miss Hazel Armstrong and Eli H. Browning, who will be married on June 5.

Three tables of bridge were in play with seven couples sharing in competing for honors. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Howard L. Reynolds and Matt Honkonen at the close of the contest.

Late in the evening a delectable lunch was served by the hostess, with Mrs. Russell W. Lennig and Mrs. Matt Honkonen assisting. The appointments were suggestive of the season.

At a suitable hour the guests of honor were presented with a handsome electrical gift from the group as a token of esteem in which they are held.

R. H. CHAMBERS IS HONORED AT CLUB

Sunday afternoon, 42 guests including the employes of the Chambers Motor Company, were entertained at the New Castle Field club, by A. Emmet Chambers, who held a dinner party honoring his father, R. H. Chambers, the occasion being his birthday anniversary.

Shortly after 1 o'clock, the assemblage was served a full course chicken dinner menu, at tables beautifully decorated in keeping with the theme of the event.

A social time ensued, informal pastimes claiming attention. To top off the festivities, Mr. Chambers was further surprised when presented with a handsome Tipperary chair and ottoman, in behalf of those surrounding him.

Arrangements were in charge of Jesse Gibson.

FINE PROGRAM FOR MUSIC CONCERT

Even though there will be many counter attractions Tuesday evening, the annual concert of The Music club in Highland U. P. church, promises to draw a large number of the city's music lovers. It will be open to the public free of charge.

The program is exceptionally good, being made up of varied numbers featuring Florio Boutri, violinist, and Louise W. Weber, pianist, assisting artists, and choral selections by The Music club chorus, male chorus and mixed chorus numbers.

Albert A. Taylor is director of the chorus and Mrs. Kathryn N. Allen accompanist. Final rehearsal for the concert will be held this evening at 7 o'clock sharp in the home of Mrs. June Bernard, Park avenue.

Bird Songs at Eventide, Eric Coates; The Wooing, Sieveking-Sodero—Mixed Chorus.

DAUGHTERS FETE THEIR MOTHERS

Most delightful was a Mothers-Daughters party held at the home of Miss Ida Casacchia, East Lutton street, by Amity club members. Miss Ann Burgo was associate hostess.

Games were the pastimes, pizes going tto Mrs. Carl Cialella, Mrs. William Mooney and Mrs. Mary Carney. During the course of the event, daughters presented their mothers with corsages. Featuring the occasion was a program which included a poem by Miss Florence Carney, duet by Miss Rose Gillest and Miss Mary Bullano and violin, vocal and piano solos by Betty Casacchia.

Delicious dinner was served in the dining room which was attractively arranged in pink and white. Mrs. William Mooney gave an appropriate toast to the mothers present. Response was made by Mrs. Carl Cialella. Special guests included Mrs. Tony Cioffi, Mrs. E. Casacchia and Betty Casacchia.

Miss Florence Carney, Gilmore street, will receive the club next week.

THREE VISITORS AT AUXILIARY MEETING

Plans were completed for representation at the convention to be held in Reading, Pa., the latter part of June, by McBride Auxiliary Veterans of Foreign Wars, at the recent meeting in the Legion Home.

Mrs. Tempa Stickle, the president, presided and extended greetings to three visitors, Mrs. Daisy Haddock, department staff officer, of Ellwood City, Mrs. Nettie Donaldson of Ellwood City, and Mrs. Gertrude Seger, of Sharon, at the business session, it was reported that $50 had been realized for auxiliary work from a recent activity.

At the close of the meeting, the group enjoyed a social hour during which refreshments were served.

SEWING WEDNESDAY AT JAMESON HOSPITAL

Sewing sessions will be continued at Jameson Memorial Hospital on Wednesday of this week, the Lawrence County Medical Society Auxiliary members, to be in charge.

As Miss Hess and her court appear on the South Terrace, Miss Beverly Blythe, Charleroi, will, with her court, descend from the throne, and transfer her crown to the new queen. Following the coronation, will be a May pole winding, the Senior sing, and at 9 o'clock, an all-college party.

FIGULY-WELTHER WEDDING EVENT

St. Paul's church was the scene of a beautiful wedding yesterday afternoon, when Miss Teresa F. Figuly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Figuly of Huron avenue, became the bride of M. Welther, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Welther of Karl street, Youngstown, O. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. M. Stump at 3:30 o'clock, the single ring service being used, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends of the young couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her gown of white satin, fashioned on princess lines, made with train. Her long veil of tulle was caught in cap shape with a crown of seed pearls, and it had clusters of orange blossoms at either side. Her arm bouquet was of calla lilies. Miss Madeline D'Eletto of Philadelphia, maid of honor, was becoming in a gown of apricot sheer chiffon, with accessories in silver.

Attending as bridesmaids were Miss Wilhelmina Figuly, sister of the bride; Miss Katherine Welther, sister of the groom, and Miss Wilhelmina Berndt, cousin of the groom. All were attractive in gowns of poudre blue chiffon, fashioned along similar lines as that of the maid of honor, with silver accompaniments. They carried arm bouquets of yellow tea roses.

Alfred Figuly, brother of the bride, served as best man, and ushers were John E. Kiefer of this city, William Hartman and Daniel Goebel, both of Youngstown, O.

Appropriate nuptial selections were contributed during the ceremony, special vocal numbers being given by Mr. and Mrs. George Kasher. The latter favored with a solo, "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and he also gave a solo. Mrs. John Figuly, a relative of the bride, accompanied at the organ.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Figuly wore a redingote dress, with a corsage of pink roses and snapdragons. Mrs. Welther chose a blue gown, with shoulder bouquet also of roses and snapdragons.

A wedding dinner supplemented the ceremony at The Castleton hotel. Places were laid for the immediate families, numbering 29, and the center was graced with a tiered wedding cake, surmounted with a tiny bride and groom. Flowers and tapers in branching candelabra completed the arrangement.

At intervals throughout the reception hours the women's chorus of the Eintracht Singing society pleased with selections. Several of the group also offered appropriate solos.

Later in the evening the young couple departed on an extended wedding trip to Washington, D. C., and other points of interest. After May 29 they will be "at home" to their host of friends in their newly furnished apartment at 65 West Delason avenue, Youngstown, O.

Lo-Cour-Chee Club

June 3, the Lo Cour Chee club will be entertained in the home of Mrs. Cecil Logan, on Brooklyn avenue.

The last meeting was also held in the home of Mrs. William Gregor on Galbreath avenue, when winners at cards were Mrs. Willis Campbell, Mrs. Thomas McClurg and Mrs. Harry Ray. Refreshments were served.

1907 Club

Mrs. James O'Laughlin of West Washington street, will be hostess on Wednesday evening, to the 1907 club.

BRIDGE-LUNCHEON FOR MRS. WETMORE

Another link in the chain of pleasant memories for Mrs. Charles Wetmore was the bridge-luncheon in her honor given Saturday for bridge club associates, by her sisters, Mrs. Robert Vogan and Mrs. Emerson Davies, Cleveland, O., at the home of the former on Highland avenue.

A most delicious luncheon was served at small tables made attractive with vases of yellow and purple tulips. The guests found their places by means of very clever place cards, which later developed to be tallies, the handiwork of Robert Vogan.

Lovely awards for the bridge game were made late in the afternoon to Mrs. George Stoddard, Lila V. Henshaw, Mrs. F. D. Perrine, while the galloping trophy went to Mrs. Merle Francis.

The guest of honor and her small daughter Miss Ann Wetmore, each received a beautiful hostess prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore and daughter will make their future home in Uniontown, Pa., after June 1, where Mr. Wetmore has been transferred by the Pennsylvania railroad company.

Canter Bridge Club.

Mrs. William Boyd, Wilmington avenue, will be hostess Wednesday evening to members of the Canter Bridge club when they meet in her home for their regular session.

BRIDE AND GROOM TENDERED SURPRISE

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Connelly, nee Astrid Nelson, and a bride and groom of recent date, members of the S. F. Of A. Lodge together with other friends, invaded their apartment on Lincoln avenue Saturday evening, and tendered them a shower, the event took the young couple by complete surprise.

Approximately thirty participated, and after the excitement had somewhat subsided, the group presented Mr. and Mrs. Connelly with lovely gifts.

Following refreshments, which had peviously been prepared by the women present, were served, making the occasion most complete in every detail.

Mrs. John Swanson and Mrs. K. V. Nelson, aided by Mrs. Robert Nelson, were in charge of the arrangements.

Junior C. D. of A.

Troop 5 of the Junior C. D. of A. met in the home of Catherine Flynn on Butler avenue Friday evening. Dancing and chat were the pastimes and a square dance was a special feature.

A light lunch was served at a suitable time, by the hostess aided by her mother.

W. T. A. Club

Tuesday evening, Mrs. Mable Bigley of Walter street, will be hostess to the W. T. A. club.

MRS. JOHN H. MEYER TO ENTERTAIN SECTION

Mrs. John H. Meyer, of 204 East Winter avenue, will entertain Section One of the First Christian church at her home on Wednesday. It will be a regular luncheon-meeting opening at 1 o'clock.

Postpone Club Meeting

The meeting of the Merry Makers club, planned for Thursday at the home of Mrs. Aaron L. Boalick, of Highland avenue extension has been postponed because of the death of James Goodchild, Mrs. Boalick's cousin.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR BOBBY BEATTY

A group of children numbering fifteen gathered at the home of Bobbie Beatty, 733 Ridge street, Saturday afternoon, to help celebrate his seventh birthday.

Games were enjoyed at which prizes were won by Gene Rigby and Wayne McEwen. A large birthday cake with seven candles centered the table where delicious refreshments were served by his mother, assisted by Virginia Morrison.

The guest of honor received many lovely gifts.

HANDS OFF IN EUROPE

THE studied address of James W. Gerard, our official envoy to the coronation, at the Pilgrims' Society dinner in London, was in measurable contrast to the impulsive letter from Ambassador Dodd in Berlin a few days previously which discovered in America already in the shadow of dictatorship.

The Pilgrims' dinner was a splendid opportunity for Washington to convey to England and its now King our current attitude toward things abroad. It is presumed that Mr. Gerard spoke officially; and when he reiterated that "First, we are against war; secondly, we are opposed to any alliances, and thirdly, we are against meddling in the muddled affairs of Europe," that should be accepted in London (also in Paris, Berlin, Rome and Moscow) as our continuing self-protective policy.

One fact stands out unmistakably in America's foreign policy. The tension abroad is and must remain Europe's alone, and in case of conflict our policy must be "hands off." We cling to the middle premise of democracy against both Left and Right extremists, and we could not conceivably side with either against the other. Mr. Gerard outlined the only sensible course we could pursue.

BRITAIN'S STRIKE HANDLING

During the early part of this year, when strikes in the Michigan auto plants were causing great inconvenience, we were repeatedly told how much superior Britain's method of handling labor relations is to ours. England, it was said, took labor organization for granted, knew how to mediate disputes and so managed to avoid crippling strikes like ours.

It may all be very true. But it might be pointed out that during King George's coronation, when London was jammed to the limit with visitors and the demands for surface transportation was at its all-time peak, London somehow was unable to avert a city-wide strike of bus drivers.

The drivers made certain demands in the operators, the demands were rejected, so the drivers walked out in the crude old American way, and London's capital had a bus tieup on its hands at a time when it was most inconvenient.

From the looks of that, the British method of handling labor relations may not be much nearer perfection than our own, after all.

SONS OF MAN O' WAR

Assuming that horses know what it's all about, as claimed by many friends who credit them with high standards of intelligence, old Man O' War must be experiencing genuine happiness these days as he learns of the triumphs of his youngest son.

In a Blue Grass paradise, Man O' War, whose name will live in the history of the turf, is passing through the twilight of life under conditions almost idyllic, made so principally by the fact that his sons are doing him proud.

In the old Man O' War tradition, these sons have quite consistently led the field home in the great classics of the turf. Crusader was a chip off the block and so, too, was American Flag. Others, although notable, have been less distinguished.

And now Man O' War gives a new son to the racing world—War Admiral, a three-year-old which has won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness within eight days, has captured seven firsts, two seconds and a third out of ten starts and enriched his venerable owner, Samuel D. Riddle, by $121,400.

Those with a love for swift and gallant horses will follow the fortunes of War Admiral with intense interest, also with growing admiration for the old sire, whose speed of the wind and stoutness of heart have been passed along to so many worthy sons.

YOUTH'S PRICELESS HERITAGE

Stanley Baldwin's remarkable valedictory as Prime Minister of England, addressed primarily to the youth of Great Britain, could with inspiration and great advantage be read to the young people of America and of every other land. Unhappily it will never see the light of day in Russia, Italy or Germany, where boys and young men are even now being transformed into dumb, driven creatures of the State, the pitiable automatons of dictators.

"We are passing. You are the governors of the future," he said. "We vest in you the duty of guarding and safeguarding what is worthy and worthwhile in our past, our heritage and our traditions. . . . And it will be for you to protect the democracies in whatever form of empire you many live. They must be defended from without, and equally they have to be defended from within. And it may well be that you will have to save democracy from itself."

The estate which British youth inherits, as described by Mr. Baldwin, is also the estate to which America's youth falls heir, but to an even greater degree. The beauty of the countryside, the treasures of art and literature, the accumulated moral and material wealth, and the freedom, ordered freedom within the law, "with force in the background and not in the foreground," are to be found here as bounteously as in England. And, of course, the obligation and the necessity of safeguarding them exists.

For proof that this heritage is in danger it is only necessary to look here and there on the Continent. Where the rule of the dictator is supreme the meaning of liberty has been lost and democracy is nothing more than a byword and a jest. "The fruits of the free spirit of men do not grow in the garden of tyranny," declares Mr. Baldwin, and his statement is a self-evident truth which finds substantiation in those domains where Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin dominate the scene and where young men are being prepared for sacrifice in defense of autocracy.

Looking to these countries and observing the grim processes which they have been so fortunate as to escape, the youth of free lands will realize more fully the evils they must guard against. Americans, remote from European contagions, are not menaced so intimately by the enveloping evils of Communism and Fascism. Nevertheless, the obligation of vigilance in the protection of the heritage of democracy is one which must be fulfilled scrupulously by the youth of America.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

A NEWSPAPER IS USEFUL

The newspaper gives the news today that will be history tomorrow. Besides, the newspaper contains a vast amount of useful information. Although not nearly all that appears in the average newspaper is wholesome for the growing child to read, much of it is valuable information and amusement. The problem of the home and the school is to train the child to select the best from the newspaper, to read it intelligently. You and I know children who just do not choose to read the worst in the paper because they have learned to enjoy the best. The child so guided today will demand a better and better newspaper tomorrow.

For the proper study of many topics at school, particularly in elementary science, general science, the social sciences, the daily newspaper, with its pictures and stories of business government, international relations, inventions and scientific explanations and discoveries, is indispensable as a reference text in the classroom from the fourth grade onward. Besides, it is valuable for English classes.

Child Is Helped

The other day a fourteen year-old boy observed that one can almost never find a misspelled word or grammatical error in the newspaper, except in the funnies. "Those who work on a newspaper, must know their spelling and grammar," said he. Furthermore, the newspaper is a good source of facts for making very interesting practical problems in arithmetic. Parents as well as teachers should take note. One can pick up any issue of a good newspaper and find materials for fascinating arithmetic problems. I wish I had known that when I was teaching children in the intermediate and graminar grades.

More than we realize, the comic strips, despite the bad spelling, bad grammar and occasionally bad suggestions, help the child learn to read.. Nowhere else is there reading material with so strong a pull. Two of my children who were poor readers during their first few years at school took a great spurt in reading once they began to decipher the legends of the comic strips. Some day the newspaper will purposely set out to teach the child to read and to furnish him with good supplementary materials in practically all his school subjects.

BRINGING UP PARENTS

The most difficult task that children have is bringing up their parents.

The chief trouble they have is that the parents are so old and set in their ways by the time the youngsters get a chance at them.

Father and mother have lived at least a score of years in this world—and sometimes twice that long—and they have a lot of fixed ideas and opinions and prejudices from which it is very difficult to dislodge them.

They think that something is so, has always been so, and will always be so....The young people arrive with a quite different set of ideas and sometimes it takes many years before they are able to make an impression on their parents....I know some children who are quite discouraged about father and mother, and have almost given them up and decided to let them trudge along in their old ruts and routines....It's a pity, because they might have done so much with the older folk if they'd been able to catch them younger. As it is, they can't do anything but be kind to the parents, listen to them with gentle consideration and try to understand their point of view.

Sometimes a parent does have a good idea or two that has been winnowed out of experience, and a young fellow should not reject an idea wherever he finds it....After all, experience is not to be despised even though older people do harp too much on its value and depend so much upon it.

The honest parent will frequently admit that he has learned more about himself and life since the children came along than he ever knew before. He admits that instead of bringing up his children, they've been the ones who brought HIM up.

And those youngsters ought to keep in mind that in all parents, no matter how stubborn they may seem, is the possibility of change and improvement and enlightenment...They should never let themselves get discouraged.

FEMININE NEATNESS COUNTS

Most girls want to be attractive. Yet many of them overlook one of the important essentials to an attractive appearance—neatness. The Goddess of Liberty is French, not American, as so many think. The phrase was given historical importance on October 5, 1789, when a starving mob of female furies, with cannon, guns, pistols and horses rushed out of Paris to Versailles and charged the palace where Louis XVI and the members of his court were roystering and feasting. A deputation of twelve women was selected to present the appeal of the people, and this group in turn elected a young girl of 17, famed for her beauty, as the leader of the delegation. As this revolutionary Joan of Arc approached the king she fainted, but when she recovered she won the good will of Louis. She obtained his promise of relief for the poor, and the king thereupon bedecked her with flowers and hailed her as "the Goddess of Liberty."

DEAR MISS MARKEL—I am seeking a new position. Please give me some pointers that will help me make the best possible impression. —Stenog.

Answer—If you have a letter of introduction to an executive to whom you wish to apply, arrange to have it precede your visit. If possible, have it mailed so that he receives it in his morning mail and make your call the same afternoon. Make it a rule to call on executives in the afternoon about three, after they have returned from lunch. During their morning hours, they are usually busy with correspondence and are apt to be impatient with callers.

Avoid vivid perfume and make-up—especially lipstick and rouge—during such calls as most executives have a prejudice against having flashy women on their office staffs no matter how much they may like them after office hours.

State your case promptly, briefly and with dignity. Then let the remainder of your conversation consist of answers to the executives questions. Even if he refuses your services, send him a well-framed letter thanking him for his time. Perhaps your framing of that letter may persuade him to employ you. If you wish him to learn some of your good points have some other executive, a former teacher or your pastor write a letter covering these points.

Brazil Destroys Coffee

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

WIVES SOMETIMES ask questions that husbands cannot answer—as every husband knows.

We were reading a dispatch from Rio de Janeiro that Brazil may destroy 70 per cent of its coffee crop because of "over-production".

Whereupon our wife asked: "Why not reduce the price so people can buy more coffee? There isn't overproduction. People simply can't afford to buy all that they desire to."

A LONG WAY

Brazil is going a long way to keep down coffee production—for the high price stimulates coffee farmers to renewed production instead of less. Farmers now are forbidden to plant coffee trees except under certain conditions.

VARGAS

Brazil soon will leap into the news in a big way, according to observers. We've been hearing of the revolution breeding. It seems to be getting a start this time.

This largest country (in population) in South America has a dictator, you know—Getulio Vargas. His title of president may confuse Americans into believing that Brazil remains a democracy. It does not.

Any revolution would be against the dictatorship.

The fear in Brazil has been that even though Vargas were not a candidate for renomination in the national convention called for May 25, he still would be a dictator behind the scenes and would control the national election next January. Recent announcement by a lieutenant that he would not be a candidate did not impress oppositionists.

Even efforts to revive opposition parties have been fatal. The organizers have been arrested as "communists", held in jail incommunicado for months or even more than a year, then tried before a secret tribunal.

Luis Varlos Prestes and Arthur Ewert and 30 others, termed communists, recently were sentenced in secret trials after a year in jail. Prestes was sentenced to 16 years, Ewert to 14.

An American lawyer from Philadelphia, David Levinson, was refused permission to represent Prestes and was deported as being a communist.

Previously, when Senator Abel Chermont of Brazil agreed to represent Prestes, he was arrested, in spite of congressional immunity.

Then, at the trial tribunal, the presiding judge invited Prestes to choose counsel. And Prestes replied:

"I know nothing about what is going on here. For a year I have been in prison, deprived of all communication with the outside world in an atmosphere of police terrorism. Before I choose defense counsel, I want to know the charges against me."

MASSACRE OF LEPERS

These excerpts from the Manchester, Eng., Guardian tell a story in themselves:

"Details are slowly reaching Shanghai of the brutal massacre by Chinese soldiers on the morning of Easter Sunday, March 28, of between 50 and 60 Christian leper men and women at the leper settlement of the American Presbyterian Mission hospital at Yeung-Kong, in southern Kwantung.

"For more than 20 years this settlement has ministered to the needs of some of the lepers in this region under the supervision of the doctors of the mission hospital and other friends. Some financial help has been given by the local Chinese community, whose attitude has always been friendly and assistance has been given from the Chinese Mission to Lepers. Such funds as it has been possible to secure have not been sufficient, however, and the lepers have endeavored to eke out their existence by begging.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A LOST MEANING

As Mark Twain said about the weather, so it is with economy and thrift in government. Everybody talks about it, but nobody does anything.

Maybe the trouble is that there has been too much shouting of the word "economy." Maybe the congressmen, legislators, bureau chiefs, tax district heads and all that gentry charged with the disposition of the people's money, have heard the word and echoed it, have promised it and mouthed it so incessantly that it's now just a sound sans all significance.

It is a paradox that the very word drummed on so ceaselessly should have become so far as the true meaning Webster gives it, the lost word of the English language? Not at all. "Ear fatigue," the scientists might call it.

Today in all states, in Congress and in all communities, the mouths say, "economy" but the figures say that more of the American public's money is being spent than any time in history. And a lot of people are wondering where we'll be ten years from now, if this keeps up.

Certainly there'll come a day of reckoning. But you can't impress that fact on public servants who hold the purse-strings, by pounding on the word whose punch is gone, the long lost word "economy."

In the end, it is safe to say, there'll be a resort to another way than shouting a way that will restore the word's meaning, a way that will make it heard without inducing "ear fatigue." For with ballots, you know, the public can shout silently.

THE CITY AND THE COUNTRY STORE

The city stores are fine to see with all their shiny cases
But still they don't appeal to me;
they've banished sitting places;
They leaves no boxes by the doors to use when days are sunny;
They're nothing social, they're just store designed to get the money.

You can't go visiting down there and spend the morning talking.
The city's busier thoroughfare is only meant for walking.
The store has scarcely room to tread
so built for business is it
The merchant keeps no barrel head where one can sit and visit.

They all have managers in town who have to make a showing
No time have they for sitting down to ask how things are going.
Oh, you might shop there all your life and never meet the owner
If something you must ask your wife a nickel's charged to phone her.

I better liked that country store where neighbors met to chatter
Where old men sat about the door and business didn't matter.
There, shopping was a pleasant task
a resting spot 'twas meant for.
So friendly we forget to ask for half the things we went for.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Sen. Robinson Is Court Aspirant

Democratic Senate Leader Has Wanted Court Appointment For Long Time

ROOSEVELT NOT EAGER FOR HASTE

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

WASHINGTON, May 24. — No chicken ever was counted oftener before being hatched than the senate's majority leadership is being counted on by prominent Democratic senators, on the supposition that Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas will be boosted out of his party's present senatorial leadership into a seat on the United States supreme court bench, to succeed retiring Justice Willis Van Devanter.

The list of possibilities, who have been suggested for the coming supreme court vacancy is half a column long, but Capitol Hill's consensus is that Senator Robinson is, by all odds, the strongest probability.

The prediction doubtless is, to a certain extent, the offspring of the desire of other ambitious senators. They want a chance at that leadership of his.

NO SECRET

Still, it is no secret that the Arkansan for a long time has aspired to a supreme judgeship.

It also is the general impression that President Roosevelt, early in his first term, promised to appoint him to the desired post at the first opportunity. That such a promise actually was made cannot be proved, but most senators believe that it was made and a few of them may know that it was.

If made, will it be kept?

It will be an exceedingly difficult promise for the president to repudiate if he did make it. Yet, Joe Robinson will be a mightily peculiar supreme court selection for the president to make.

AN ULTRA-CONSERVATIVE

This, as we know, is a New Dealerish era.

Practically everything that the New Deal stands for Senator Robinson was opposed to during a long public career. He was a corporation lawyer, an ultra-conservative, a defender of just the governmental and economic philosophy that has been complained of by liberals and radicals as characteristic of supreme court reaction—as the New Dealers have termed it.

But, when the New Deal came into power, Robinson fell into line with it immediately.

He already was Democratic senate leader. He had vast influence. He was and is senatorially highly popular. His service to the administration was tremendous. It contradicted his whole past record, but perhaps, as a convert, that made his help all the more valuable.

Now, if he isn't appointed to the supreme bench, the president's chance to appoint him having arisen, won't he be the victim of a piece of rank ingratitude—of an outright breach of faith maybe?

If he is appointed, won't he revert to form, and turn out to be as conservative a justice as retiring Justice Van Devanter, or some others?

Or will he be a rubber stamp—a humiliating position?

SENATE LIKES HIM

Besides, President Roosevelt has said he wants comparatively young men on the federal supreme bench—under 60. Robinson is half a decade above that.

In every respect he is inconsistent.

But the senate (however the president may feel about it) favors him.

It likes him personally. The conservative Republicans approve of him because they consider him conservative. So do the conservative Democrats, and there are a lot of them. And the progressive Democrats also seek to get him out of the way, in order that one of them may succeed to his senate leadership—Senator Ashurst, Senator Barkley, Senator Byrnes, Senator Harrison, Senator Lewis, Senator Pittman or Senator McKellar.

SWIFT APPROVAL

If Rdbinson is named for the supreme court, one of these Democrats will be in line for the majority senate leadership.

The Republicans will not care, either; they will endorse him.

But if an outsider is wished in (Richberg, Frankfurter or one of that group) there will be opposition.

The president makes the appointment; the senate has to confirm it.

Robinson looks like a good bet, but he is utterly inconsistent.

Severity of the recent winter in the Rocky mountain region killed more than half of the insect larvae, federal scientists report.

JANE FAUNTZ MANSKE started smoking Camels 2years ago. This Chicago girl's superb diving form won her National and Olympic honors.

JOSEPHINE McKIM —holds records in both sprint and distance free-style events. Camels have been her favorite cigarette for 3 years now.

GEORGIA COLEMAN —made Olympic history in her spectacular spring-board diving victory in 1932. She became a Camel smoker that same year.

LENORE KIGHT WINGARD —the foremost woman free-style swimmer — holds 7 world's records, 16 national ones. Camels have been her cigarette for 4 years.

DOROTHY POYNTON HILL —petite, blonde Los Angeles beauty—the incomparable Queen of the 33-foot platform dive—became a Camel fan over a year ago.

SPRINT STAR. Arthur Lindegren swam to a new 200-meter free-style record. "Camels give me a generous 'lift' in energy when I'm tired after swimming," says Art.

OLYMPIC STAR. Arthur Highland smashed records in the dash and middle-distance events. Arthur says: "Smoking Camels with my meals eases the strain after racing."

PERFECT CONTROL helped Marshall Wayne win the Olympic diving crown! "I never hesitate to enjoy a Camel," says Marshall. "Camels don't get on my nerves!"

WHAT THESE ACE MERMAIDS SAY—Dorothy Poynton Hill speaking: "I prefer Camels for their mildness. They never jangle my nerves. I can enjoy smoking as often as I wish. I think that another advantage of smoking Camels is the invigorating 'lift' they give me when I'm tired after a strenuous workout."

Lenore Kight Wingard—one of the greatest American woman athletes of our times—adds this: "I really get fun out of swimming. Hard work is part of the game. It's grand the way Camels help me enjoy my food no matter how tired or strained I may be. And I've found Camels do not irritate my throat."

Social Security Data Barred Even To U. S. Officials

Records Of 26 Million Persons Are Held In The Strictest Confidence

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Not even the highest government official will be given access to the records of the social security board, it was announced today.

The mass of information covering 26 million persons is to be kept in the strictest confidence, the board emphasized.

This policy was reasserted as the result of thousands of inquiries received not only at the headquarters here, but at regional offices of the board throughout the country.

The files are closed even to law enforcement officials, from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the G-Men, down to city police departments, members of the board emphasized.

Line Sharply Drawn

The line has been drawn so sharply that even information which might reunite separated families or identify unknown dead will be withheld.

As an instance, a man was found dead in Washington recently. The only clue to his identity was his social security account number, found on his person. Washington authorities who sought the name to which the number had been issued were turned away.

If exceptions are made in any one type of case, the way will be opened for others, board officials held.

Running the gamut from tragedy to comedy, hundreds of requests for information are being received by the board daily.

Deserted wives seek information of the whereabouts of errant husbands—some in the hope of effecting a reconciliation, others in the hope of a resumption of alimony payments.

Missing Relatives Sought

Sons and daughters seeking fathers and mothers, mothers and fathers seeking sons and daughters are among those who believe the social security board holds the key to their future happiness.

At the same time hundreds of communications come from collection agencies throughout the country seeking information of the whereabouts of missing debtors.

Suspicious swains and husbands write the board seeking to determine the true age of their sweethearts or their wives.

To all these requests go the same reply—a form letter stating that the board's records are confidential and cannot be disclosed.

After a time, even the form letter probably will be dispensed with and the requests ignored completely, board members said.

PITTSBURGH, May 24—Carnegie's parking meters were hailed as a success yesterday by Police Chief Chris Keisling.

At first, Keisling said, people resented paying a nickel an hour, and grumbled it was a "racket." But after a day or two, the Chief explained:

"They're parking like nobody's business.

"I don't know about other communities, but the meters are the only solution to our problem.

Aged Negro Recalls Trip To North Pole With Admiral Peary

Reports Of Soviet Air Dash To Pole, Brings Memories To Alexander Henson

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 24.—Reports of the spectacular Soviet air dash to the North Pole brought a thrill of old memories today to an elderly Negro seated in a humble Harlem flat.

The man is Matthew Alexander Henson, who shared honors with Admiral Robert E. Peary as the first to reach "the top of the world" 28 years ago.

Seventy-one years of age, his curly hair turned snow white, Henson said:

"We had no planes and no wireless on our trip. "We just had dogs and sledges, our compasses and Commander Peary's stout heart.

"With 48 dogs and a number of Eskimos, Commander Peary and myself left Cape Sheridan by sledge on March 1, 1909. It took us 37 days to reach the pole—days when we were out of touch with the rest of our party and the world."

Eight of the dogs died on the trip, but Peary and Henson came thru, subsisting on hard tack and pelican.

Henson is now living on a monthly pension of $85.72 as a former federal employe.

Dr. Cook Says His Claim Will Be Substantiated

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 24—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, 71 year-old Arctic explorer, said tonight he was confident a detailed report by Russian scientists, who yesterday flew over the North Pole would substantiate his claim of being the first white man to reach the Pole.

For almost 30 years, Dr. Cook has insisted he reached the Pole more than a year before Admiral Robert E. Peary, who planted American flags at the uppermost extremity of the globe. Dr. Cook said:

"The most important information about the North Pole since I was there on April 21, 1908, will come from the Russian scientists. Their description of the land they flew over before they reachedd the Pole will prove I actually was the first."

Harmonica King Envies McIntyre

Columnist Would Also Gladly Change Places With Ace Of Mouth-organ Players

CORONATION CROWDS RETURN

NEW YORK, May 24.—Diary: Up feeling sloggy, but cheered by hails from Jacob Ruppert, Shiela Barrett, Alice Brady and the lovable, rowdy Ted Healy. Also a long letter from Tom Geraghty telling the news of London, cock-a-hoop with lillied phrases about the charm of some ancient streets. And the coronation.

O. O. McIntyre

So with my lady to Glenhead to the wedding reception for the T. Dennis Boardmans. And back to The City to meet J. Bryan III, who has been assigned to write a piece about me for the Saturday Evening Post. Then talking to V. V. McNitt about syndicate matters and such.

Dined at a Schrafft's and so intrigued by a mustache fixer with a hand mirror at the next table ate only a few dabs. Afterward across 42d street and saw the darkened burlesque houses, and stopped in to hear a bare-chested Sampson in a leopard's skin lecture on the marvels of his cure-all.

From the harmonica king, Larry Adler, in Oxford, England: "I notice in your column you would like to play the harmonica as I do. The co-incidence is spooky. My life ambition is to be a columnist such as you. Just last week I said that very thing to A. Christiansen, young editor of the London Daily Express who lets me write a column for him now and then. If you are wondering how I come to read your column here in Oxford, let me tell you my girl friend sends me your entire output, including the Cosmopolitan. Anyway, I'll send you one of my mouth organs and all instructions, if you'll give me a leg up on columning. I'll guarantee to have you toothing 'Blue Danube' in nothing flat. But why should you make such an exchange? Anybody—an urchin in the street—can play a mouth organ." (Ed. note: But not like a Larry Adler, and there are not a half dozen readable columnists.)

And last of the roaming violinists who wander from table to table in cafe seems to be Joe Fejer—pronounced Fayre—who is still strolling. He has roamed from old Delmonico's on the avenue to a Hungarian goulasherie on Second avenue. A smiling, unctuous troubador, he knows a thousand and one arias and likes to stand before you, swaying, dreamy-eyed and playing on and on. Nothing gives him greater happiness than to find a group of listeners who will hear him until dawn.

That testimonial dinner to Broadway's "grandest guy", Gene Buck, was a rousing bravura. As the cow hands say on the Texas pampas they "poured it on him", and deservedly. With the exception of former President Hoover's well balanced restraint and Bud Kelland's deep-seated satire—the razory sort that would cut floating silk—the complimentary goo of a score of celebrities had almost engulfed the genial Gene in a burple of bathos. The former secretary of President Wilson, white haired Joseph P. Tumulty, had presided and did not spare the sugar. So little did he refrain from an extravaganza of acclaim that as the guests left Grantland Rice, a bit groggy, whispered to Arthur McKeogh: "Well the shouting and tumulty dies!"

Coronation crowds are coming back humming "Let's Have a Tiddledy at the Mik Bar". One hears it everywhere in England—on the radio and among the whistling errand boys and cabaret crooners. London, it seems, has all of a sudden taken up milk just as the orange drink stands niched in every available building crevice in New York. Incidentally, a new American restaurant has sprung up in London next door to the old Palladium and is called "Ye Old Doughnut Dunkery."

Jigsaw genesis: Harry Lauder postcards that the jigsaw puzzle was invented by a Scot butcher who inadvertently dropped a pound note into his mincing machine.

Churchill's famous old restaurant corner on Broadway at 49th street, leveled by the wreckers, is being graced by a swanky movie house to be run on the two-a-day basis. For several years it has been deserted and was slowly becoming one of the familiar eyesores. Churchill's "cartoonist" table was once as important in its way as the old Amen Corner in the 5th Avenue Hotel.

Bagatelles: Clare Dwiggins, the cartoonist, is gypsying from the Golden Gate to Maine in an old trailer . . . Michael Arlen has fallen for the monocle . . . Hollywood's Dutch Treat club is called the Scotch Treat. . . Alfred Lunt has a green and yellow striped shirt with collar to match that Lynn Fontanne will not let him wear . . . Gene Ahern, the cartoonist, is building a Spanish castle with a patio in California . . . Abel Green and his wife are on a two months' trip to California to look over the Variety interests on the coast.

From an editorial: "No one remembers exactly when the first big swing from right to left took place. "So far as I'm concerned it was when Mrs. Leslie Carter hung to that bell clapper in "Heart of Maryland".

Joseph Watterson of New London, Conn., cast his worm-baited hook into a stream. A trout and an eel raced for it. The trout won, but knocked the worm off the hook. The hooked trout and the eel contined fighting for the worm and the trout twisted Watterson's line around the eel. Watterson pulled them both up with the line, which was in a neat clove hitch about the eel. And he has two witnesses.

Ed. Wood's house at Edison, Wash., caught fire. The Edison volunteer fire department lost its hose nozzle and couldn't respond to the alarm. Ivor V. Davis to Jacob Kulkin, 1st ward, $13,000.

James A. Molony estate to Chas. N. Lambright, Enon Valley, $1400.

In a decision handed down Saturday by the court the ruling of the Lawrence County salary board in setting salaries for Deputy Prothonotaries Emma Carson and Elmer Nesbitt is upset and new salary standards assigned them.

Under the ruling Miss Carson is given a salary of $2100 per year and Mr. Nesbitt $1800. The case originated when the two appealed from the ruling of the salary board some weeks ago. At the time the salaries were set, that of Miss Carson was placed at $1620 and that of Mr. Nesbitt at $1500. They asked the court to increase them.

In the ruling the court states that the work of both the deputies has been efficient and satisfactory and that the salaries assigned them by the board were inadequate. The court further states that notices of the presentation of the appeal had been served on each member of the salary board but no answer was filed and none of the board members appeared in person at the hearing.

Manager J. Robert Oldfield of the local Personal Finance Company office, today congratulated the Regent Theater management for "its great public service" in bringing to New Castle the film "I Promise To Pay." The showing started today and continues three days.

Oldfield, after previewing the film today, said: "It's an object lesson to all who see it."

THIS STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA

FIRST ORCHESTRA

Do you know that the first orchestra in America was organized in the Moravian Church in Bethlehem in 1749.

The history of the Moravian church in Bethlehem from the very beginning has been closely associated with music. Musical instruments from abroad were used in organizing an orchestra. Since 1754 a trombone choir has been in existence. This choir announces deaths in the congregation, ushers in the church festivals by playing appropriate chorales and assists with the Bach Festival. It owns a complete set of slide trombones, including the rare soprano and F-bass trombones. These two instruments are not to be found anywhere else in America.

The World At A Glance

of March a senior officer of the Chinese troops stationed in the neighborhood began to display a hostile attitude toward the lepers, threatening to shoot any that were seen about. He sent a message to this effect to the local authorities, and a meeting was called to discuss the matter. Both the civil and the military authorities were invited to attend, but none of the latter put in appearance, and consequently nothing could be done.

"On the Wednesday before the massacre the military announced that all lepers in the settlement would be given ten cents a day. It now seems evident that this was done with the object of trying to get as many lepers as possible into the settlement with a view to killing them. Each inmate had to sign his name when receiving his ten cents.

"This continued for three days, and then early on Easter Sunday morning the inmates were called together to receive their money. Accounts reaching Shanghai from trustworthy sources state that as soon as they had assembled soldiers rushed in, bound the lepers, dragged them out of the settlement, and shot every one.

"Two long trenches were dug and the bodies of the men thrown into one and those of the women into the other.

"Of those murdered, between 15 and 20 were women and the rest, about 40, were men. Subsequently, it is stated, the soldiers ransacked the settlement and, after stealing what money could be found, set fire to the buildings..."

New Castle Lady Declares It Has Been A Long Time Since She Could Enjoy Meals Because Of Gas, Sour Stomach, Bloating And Other Disorders Attributed To Constipation. Praises Vendol For Grand Relief.

Many of the men and women who praise Vendol so highly are those who haven't enjoyed their meals for years because they always suffered afterwards. Miss Josephine Shuler who has resided in New Castle all her life where she is well known and highly esteemed by all who know her, is now adding her name to the long list of widley known local people who owe their new health to the Amazing New Medicine VENDOL. She says:

"I had been bothered with constipation quite a while, which caused all my troubles and resulted in indigestion. The past year had been a terrible period for me, as it was just about one year ago that I first began to suffer with a gassy, bloated stomach which finally led into about the worst misery you ever heard of. It got so it felt like every meal I ate would lodge at the top of my stomach in a hard, heavy chunk and oh, the suffering it caused me! I would bulge and bloat out with gas until I thought I'd burst. Had gas pains that were simply terribly.

"My togue was coated, breath bad, often felt dizzy and had awful headaches. I felt nervous and irritable and couldn't sleep right due to my suffering.

"I tried different medicines with very little results till recently. I heard about Vendol and the little Vendol laxative tablets, so got started on this medicine and will say I never found such a medicine before.

"It relieved my constipation and then cleared so much gas and acid fermentation from my stomach organs that I've gotten relief from that awful sourness, bloating and gas pains. It is a pleasure to sit down and eat anything that is put on the table and never suffer later on."

MISS JOSEPHINE SHULER

Plan To Observe Flag Day June 14

New Castle Man Is Elected Vice President Of National Association

William T. Kerr, Philadelphia, formerly of Pittsburgh, has been re-elected for the thirty-ninth (39) consecutive year as National President and Director General of the American Flag Day association, founded by him in Pittsburgh over 40 years ago to promote Nation-wide celebrations of Flag Day, June 14, commemorating adoption June 14, 1777, of the Stars and Stripes as Americas National flag. Kerr's leadership resulted in the Pennsylvania legislatures action, through Allegheny County Senator Rankin's resolution, that the governor should issue yearly proclamation requesting general observance of Flag Day in the Keystone state, which is now done annually. His continued campaigning since boyhood for Flag Day recognition, was responsible for many fraternal organizations making obligatory the observance of Flag Day June 14, in addition to proclammations and addresses by public officials and community patriotic celebrations increasing nation-wide every year.

Others officers chosen were secretary, Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, Pittsburgh; treasurer, Albert F. Lang, St. Petersburg, Fla.; vice president, Arthur G. Trimble, Brookline, Pa.; chairman board of directors, J. W. White, editor Record, Jacksonville, Fla.; counselor, Norvel R. Daugherty, Pittsburgh; associate vice presidents, Fred L. Rentz, New Castle, publisher New Castle News; Miss Vera V. Cumberland, San Francisco, Cal.; Captain Theodore D. Gottlieb, Newark, N. J.; Mrs. Lewis Packard Rosser, Atlanta, Ga., and Mrs. Anna Cannon, Salt Lake City, Utah; historian, Eugene Le Moyne Connelly, Pittsburgh; chaplain, Rev. Dr. Mark Matthews, Seattle, Wash.; associate chaplain, Rev. Dr. Weaver K. Eubank, Philadelphia.

Secretary, Mrs. D. Edwin Miller stated the Flag Day association official opening program will be at Valley Forge Sunday, June 13; that many ministers of every denomination will also preach loyalty sermons; that more cities and communities than ever and an increased number of schools and universities will observe Flag Day. The association has requested a general display of the flag June 14, as it will be "Old Glory's" 160th birthday anniversary.

take further action to extend the frontiers of social progress. Such further action initiated by the legislative branch of the government, administered by the executive, and sustained by the judicial, is within the common sense framework and purpose of our constitution and receives beyond doubt the approval of our electorate.

"Enlightened business is learning that competition ought not to cause bad social consequences which inevitably react upon the profits of business itself.

"All but the hopelessly reactionary will agree that to conserve our primary resources of man power, government must have some control over maximum hours, minimum wages, the evil of child labor and the exploitation of child labor."

The president said there should be little dispute with his proposal to rule out of interstate commerce the products of manufacturers who employ child labor, who deny workers the right of self-organization and collective bargaining and who fail to meet minimum working standards.

BIG TOE BETRAYS THIEF

When the police of Hermanus, South Africa, inspected the trail of a barefoot burglar, who had stolen $100, the Sherlock Holmes instinct told them that capture should be easy. One of the big toes was peculiarly formed. All the well known jail characters passed inspection, but the trail finally led to N. Cupido, an amateur burglar, who was sentenced to four months hard labor.

ROCKEFELLER TO BE BURIED AT CLEVELAND, O.

station but will be picked up some distance away as the train leaves the city.

Elaborate precautions were taken to make the departure as quiet as was Rockefeller's life in this city. Ward Madison, Rockefeller's secretary, said the family wished to avoid the possibility of a crowd at the station.

The multi-millionaire's pastor, the Rev. Kerrison Juniper, of the Ormond Union church, said no funeral tribute will be paid him here. Members of the Union church, who beamed when Rockefeller voiced his familiar "good day and God bless you" greeting adopted a resolution of tribute.

Death Is Sudden

Despite his advanced years, Rockefeller's death came as a surprise to this resort city. Almost daily his automobile had been seen speeding along the beach as the oil magnate took his customary ride.

His passing was so sudden that not even his secretary had time to reach "The Casements."

Dr. H. L. Merryday, attendant to Rockefeller for nearly two years, said he spent a restless night Thursday but improved sufficiently Friday to spend much time in his chair in the garden. Another restless night Friday was followed by improvement Saturday although he did remain in bed.

Rockefeller's son, John D., Jr., when he telephoned from his New York home Saturday noon, was assured there was no immediate danger. Saturday, Rockefeller requested his secretary to read him the day's news and then discussed events of the day, showing much interest.

Before retiring that night, however, he expressed confidence of possibly achieving his goal of a century of life. He told house attendants:

"I hope to be feeling well enough for a Sunday afternoon ride."

He slept normally early Saturday night but shortly after midnight lapsed into a light coma. A few hours later "Neighbor John" died.

"Heart Just Stopped."

Dr. Merryday, ascribing death to sclerotic myocarditis, commented:

"His heart just stopped because it had done all the work it could do and could not keep going any longer."

With his passing, the mantle of leadership of one of America's wealthiest dynasties fell upon the shoulders of his only son, 63-year-old John D., Jr.

The philanthropist and "giver of dimes" is survived by a large clan. Besides his son there are one daughter, Mrs. E. Parmelee Prentice; eight grandsons, five granddaughters, four great-garndsons and seven great-granddaughters.

But none was with him at the end. Those present besides Dr. Merryday when he died were Mrs. Fannie A. Evans, a cousin; John E. Yordi, a nurse and companion for many years, and Roy C. Sly, another nurse.

Retired from active business for years, Rockefeller gave most of his fortune to his heirs before he died. Close associates said his estate is relatively small and very liquid. Estimates placed its value around $25,000,000.

During the past 40 years, it was estimated, he divested himself of between one and two billion dollars, both in public gifts and fortunes passed on to survivors.

Led Full Life.

Rockefeller led a full life, although it had been increasingly simple in late years. He was a principal figure in the industrialiaztion of a continent. During his lifetime, he witnessed inuumerable changes, such as automobiles replacing horses and carriages, airplanes challenging cars and railroad trains as common carriers. He also saw the rise and fall of great industrial empires and depressions come and go.

Throughout it all, however, he found time for exercise and personally liked golf. Although he had not played a round of golf here for five years, he wielded the clubs as recently as two years ago on the flat private course at his Lakewood, N. J., estate. Dr. Merryday revealed that until recently he used to indulge in a few swings with a golf club on his lawn.

Adhering to his annual custom, Rockefeller came to "The Casements" last October and was slated to return north again shortly for another summer, possibly at Lakewood.

Survivors Mourn

North Tarrytown, N. Y., May 24—Behind the guarded walls of a fairyland estate Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., grieved today as other members of the late multimillionaire's family dashed here to attend private funeral service for the oil magnate.

Gates of the 3,500 acre estate remained closed as preparations were made for arrival of the 97-year-old philanthropist's body from Florida.

In front of the Union Congregational church an American flag flew at half mast. Rockefeller employees were garbed in sombre black. Everywhere residents, preferring to call themselves "neighbors" of John D. "paid tribute to the "good, kind, man."

Reports from the estate indicated John D. Jr., was very much broken up." With him are his wife, two sons, John D., 3rd., and Lawrence S. and his daughter, Mrs. David M. Milton.

Mrs. E. Parmalee Prentice, the elder Rockefeller's only living daughter, was enroute here from her home near Wailliamstown, Mass.

Two other grandsons, Nelson Aldrich and Winthrop Rockefeller, on the last leg of a business and pleasure tour of South America, turned to the airways to arrive here without delay. Only 48 hours before their grandfather died, they were among nine passengers in a Pan-American Grace plane which crashed at Lima, Peru. Nelson's wife also was aboard but none of the passengers was injured.

A fifth grandson, David, a graduate student in economics at Harvard, also is headed here.

GRAVE JOKE BRINGS SUIT

For playing practical joke on a grave digger a barber in Constantinople, Turkey, was sent to prison for eight days. The tonsorial artist told the grave digger that his wife had died, and asked him to prepare a grave. The digger did so. The barger than laughingly told him that his wife was well and healthy. The laughter faded a few days later when the grave digger sued him.

Still, if congressmen are dumb enough to give Roosevelt the money to coerce them, they need some kind of boss.

TEETH BUILD HOSPITAL

Dogs' teeth have provided enough money to build a mission hospital in New Guinea. Last autumn Sister Maria Molnar, a missionary from Budapest, Hungary, wrote back home asking members of her church to collect canine teeth and send them to her as they are valuable as currency in New Guinea. Her appeal brought a large shipment of the teeth.

SHENANGO HIGH BACCALAUREATE HELD ON SUNDAY

Approximately 500 Persons Attend; Rev. Pearson Delivers Sermon

"Problems of the Folks," was the theme of the Shenango High school Baccalaureate sermon which was delivered by Rev. Philip Pearson, of the Trinity Episcopal church, Sunday evening, in Shenango high auditorium. Approximately 500 persons were in attendance.

Rev. Pearson told the 48 members of the graduating class that they have been prepared to face the hard knocks in life. He then went on to explain some of the problems of the young folks after they are graduated from high school. His sermon was most inspiring.

Edward Canan, principal of the high school, introduced the speaker. Rev. Earl Engle, Savannah M. E. church, read the scripture. One of the features was the violin playing of Arvo Aho. Benedication by Rev. Pearson.

"An Evening Prayer," and "The Prayer Perfect," was given by the Shenango girls' trio, consisting of Elizabeth Koski, Sylvia Haltunnen and Alice Koski.

Former Treasurer Of Mercer County Is Found Dead

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., May 24.—Plans were completed today for the burial of David John Lewis, 72, of Farrell, who took his own life Saturday afternoon. The service will be at 2:30 Wednesday in the residence, and he will be laid to rest in Mercer mausoleum.

Mr. Lewis' death was a shock to his family and to a large host of Mercer county friends. He had served the county as treasurer during the years from 1920 to '24. Previous to that he had been tax collector in Farrell for 14 years.

Mr. Lewis drank a large amount of chloroform and it was this, according to Coroner William Applegate, that was the cause of his death.

He was found dead by his family upon their return home. He leaves his wife, Mary, with whom two years ago he celebrated his golden wedding anniversary; a daughter, Mrs. Mae Richards, a teacher in Farrell school, and two sons, William T., of Trenton, Mich., and David, at home.

Ill health was the cause of the deed, it is thought. He had lost both legs in an accident at one time and hadn't been well since.

Ford Comments On Rockefeller

(International News Service)

DETROIT, May 24.—The world today shares in the benefits of the work of John D. Rockefeller, Henry Ford said last night in a tribute to the dead oil magnate.

In a prepared radio statement, Ford said:

"Mr. Rockefeller filled a long life with useful work which left a notable mark on his times. He had the satisfaction of seeing his ideas develop into a service that is world wide in its scope.

"Like the benefits of the work of all other creative workers, the benefits of what he did were shared by humanity everywhere. Until the very end he was notable for his excellent judgment and sound council.

SHOP TALK

"A nice steak," ordered the customer.

"Yes, sir," said the waiter, "and will there be anything else?"

"No".

"How about some lamb or pork?"

"No."

"Some salad or peas?"

"I ordered steak," the customer began as the manager entered.

"What do you mean by all this nonsense, waiter?" the manager asked.

"That's all right," was the reply. "I'm just making the man feel at home. He's the barber on my street."

GOVERNOR TO ADDRESS LEGISLATURE TONIGHT

Will Make Final Appeal For Action

Many Measures Must Be Rushed Through In This Final Week

CAMPAIGN PLEDGES HANG IN BALANCE

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 24—Gov. George H. Earle, fulfillment of his 1934 campaign pledges at stake, will take the legislative stage tonight for an 11th hour address to the general assembly that holds the fate of his "mandate" program in this, its scheduled final week.

Without indicating the tenor of his message, the governor announced early today he would address a joint session of the 132nd legislature tonight at 9 o'clock. A state-wide radio hookup was expected to carry the speech throughout the commonwealth.

The governor's "fireside chat" announcement was seen as bringing the administration's full force behind the plan for adjournment sine die by this week-end.

Nevertheless, Democratic strategists in house and senate were confronted with the task of their political lives—to jam through the restless legislature remaining phases of the administration program.

Whether this could be accomplished within such a limited time, not even the most experienced observer could hazard to predict. The legislature, returning for its 21st week, was a virtual tinder box, chock full of controversial, explosive issues. Many aspects of these issues remained unsettled.

This, coupled with threatened filibusters, printing delays and inevitable floor fights gave indication that nothing short of a complete reversal of the current trend would permit scheduled adjournment by noon Friday.

It was expected that the clock will be turned back, enabling the legislators to work through Saturday, and, perhaps, next week.

The Earle administration itself appeared doubtful the legislature could complete its work by this week by its introduction of a $4,800,000 relief appropriation for June, in case the $137,000,000 biennial appropriation is not approved in time.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 24.—The War Department announces appointment of John Bernard Janis, of New Castle, as an officer in the organized reserves of the regular army.

Mr. Janis has been commissioned a first lieutenant in the medical corps. His address is listed as 115 West Miller street.

According to latest figures, there are 87,879 motion picture theaters in the world. More than 15,000 of these are in the United States.

There is little bravery. The brave merely do things they aren't afraid to do, and a coward can do that.

Katharine F. Lenroot

Miss Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the United States children's bureau of the department of labor, declared recently that with "the black years of depression" behind them, children today have better opportunities for health, education and happy living than for nearly a decade. Miss Lenroot made four addresses on various aspects of child security problems at the National Conference of Social Work held in Indianapolis, May 23-29. In spite of brighter prospects, however, Miss Lenroot pointed out that "undernutrition among children is widespread, especially where family income and relief are most inadequate."

Valene Woodward Denies Romancing With Rudy Vallee

Pretty Brunette Says "I Met Rudy At Party In Miami, Just Friends"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 24.—Valene Woodward, 24, formerly of Wooster, O., denies reports that she is engaged to Rudy Vallee.

Miss Woodward, who says she left Wooster five years ago to establish her residence in Miami, dividing her time between the southern resort, this city and the west coast since, also denied she had ever lived in Apple Creek or sang in a choir there.

A pretty brunette, she admitted only that she had met the radio singer casually at a Miami party, but couldn't remember how long ago.

"It was just a casual meeting," she said. "It didn't mean anything to me, nor to him either, I guess. This report we are engaged is absolutely untrue and terribly embarrassing."

Miss Woodward complained of a sore throat and explained she couldn't talk too much.

"Have you talked to Mr. Vallee?" she asked. "I wonder what he thinks of me with such a report going on? It's very embarrassing."

Ten Best Kissers' Of Films Named

HOLLYWOOD, May 24—And now comes the screen's "10 best kissers."

Director Mitchell Leisen has done the picking adding hurriedly that his selections are entirely intellectual and based on watching the candidates clinch before the camera.

He chooses Greta Garbo, Marlene Dietrich, Carole Lombard, Claudette Colbert, Clark Gable, Gary Cooper, Ray Milland, Jean Arthur, Mae West and little Olympe Bradna.

Surprisingly Robert Taylor, Fred, MacMurray and Tyrone Power, Jr., are only on his runner-up list.

"These three" he says "are still pretty new to the business. They may be real knockouts in real life, but on the screen they've still got to get rid of a certain shyness."

Of this 15 mills will be devoted to general borough purposes, six mills to the sinking fund being accumulated to meet interest charges and retire indebtedness and one mill to the library fund.

LOWELL THOMAS SPEAKING:

THE TIRE "BLEW"... LIKE A STREAK OF LIGHTNING HIS CAR SHOT OFF THE ROAD

Let LOWELL THOMAS tell you what an unexpected Blow-out did to this New Jersey motorist . . .

RALPH T. RYAN, JR., of Caldwell, New Jersey, was going East—East on Oxford Road near Montclair, New Jersey. But he almost "went West"—West on that one-way highway on which you can never turn around.

Like most motorists Ralph Ryan took his tires for granted . . . never dreamed he'd have a blow-out—until BANG! went his right front tire. The car lurched—zigzagged past a speeding roadster. Seconds seemed like hours before he came to a jerky stop—just in time to miss climbing a tree.

A well-known engineer told me that his organization, The B. F. Goodrich Company, in order to provide motorists with the real protection they needed against high-speed blow-outs, invented the Life-Saver Golden Ply.

The Golden Ply, as it was described to me, is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. By resisting this heat the Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating. It keeps blisters from forming. And when the blister is prevented, you prevent the great unseen cause of high-speed blow-outs.

Taking tires for granted these days seems like a big risk for any motorist to take. The safe thing to do, I would say, would be to put safe tires on your car before the damage is done.

Guffey Acts Are Boon To Painters

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 24.—Sign painters in this district wish there were more Guffey Acts.

On five different occasions in the last four years, the sign painters were summoned to change the name on the door of the office of coal operators in one of Pittsburgh's buildings.

The original group, a volunteer organization of coal operators, was known as the Coal Control Association of Western Pennsylvania. Along came the National Recovery Act and the name of the association was changed to the Code Authority of Western Pennsylvania.

The U. S. supreme court invalidated the NRA and the Guffey Coal bill was enacted. With new legislation, the organization was rechristened:

"Bituminous Coal Producers' Board."

Out went the Guffey law and out went the bituminous board's name. This time it was called the Western Pennsylvania Coal Operators' Association.

Now with the new Guffey-Vinson bill enacted the present board has already called in the sign painters.

Second Crash Is Fatal To Driver

Wellsville Man, Under Bond In One Accident, Killed In Another

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., May 24.—William Stark, Jr., 45, of Wellsville, a salesman, was killed and Robert Love, 55, machinist, also of Wellsville, suffered scalp injuries in a head-on automobile collision on a curve here Sunday.

The driver of the other car, which was demolished, removed his license plates and fled after helping to put Stark into an ambulance, police said.

Later, Coroner Arnold W. Devon ordered Eugene Beaver, of nearby La Croft, alleged owner of the car which struck Stark's automobile, to appear at an inquest today.

Love, a passenger, was asleep in the rear seat of Stark's new automobile. Stark died of a crushed chest.

Stark, who had been freed on bond, was awaiting trial in the Columbiana county court on a manslaughter indictment in the automobile crash death here, September 21, 1935, of Horace Moses, 28, chemist for the Pittsburgh Coal Company. Moses' car was crowded off the highway while he was enroute to Negley after removing his wife from a hospital, police said.

Stark leaves a widow and four children.

Giants Defeat Pirates, 6 To 5

Hoyt Fails In Relief Role As Giants Score Four In Ninth

YANKEES TOP INDIANS, 7 TO 3

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 24—Another banner crowd was expected to witness the second game at Forbes field today between the Pirates and Giants with Carl Hubbell, mighty Giant hurler, pitching for his 23rd consecutive victory.

Almost 30,000 fans crowded their way into the ball park yesterday to watch the Giants snatch a 6 to 5 victory out of seeming defeat in the ninth inning. With the score then at 5 to 2 in favor of the Pirates and many spectators already leaving ("the game's in the bag," they said) the Giants unleashed a sudden attack and before the flurry of blows were over four runs crossed the home sack.

Win In Ninth

The Pirates scored their first runs in the third inning, Garnering two then, another in seventh, and their final two in the eighth frame. The Giants went scoreless until the seventh when they sent two runs across the plate and then put the game on ice with their ninth inning rally.

Cy Blanton, who started for the Pirates, pitched a heady game up until the fatal last inning, but then gave way for Waite Hoyt. The Giants secured 11 hits in all. The Pirates although they lost the game, went the Giants one better in the number of hits scored, amassing 12.

The Giants used three pitchers, Alfred Smith, Hal Schumacher and Cliff Melton.

Yanks Stop Indians

The Indians bowed to the Yankes yesterday 7 to 3, with Ruffing and Malone outpitching Galehouse, Heving and Wyatt. Still, the New York power house hailed to gain on those astonishing disciples of Connie Mack who handed the Browns their seventh straight defeat, 6 to 2. The Tigers slaughtered the Senators, 13-3 in a game halted in seven frames by rain and the White Sox staged two late rallies to down the Red Sox 7-4.

The Dodgers were left handed into a coma by Grissom of the Reds, 6 to 2. Old Charley Root of the Cubs gave the Bees only five hits to win 11 to 1 and that man Dean—Dizzy, of course—trimmed the Phillies, 6 to 2.

Joint Classes Meet At North Sewickley

Fifty members of the two classes participated in the various activities of the evening.

The opening devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Chester Douglass, president of the Ever-Ready class.

Special features of the social period were two readings, one by Miss Alice Jane Shirley, entitled, "Entertaining the Minister", and the other by Miss Doris Shirey called "The Rambler Rose".

The hostesses of the evening, Mrs. Herbet Miller, Mrs. Charles Markley, Mrs. Clem Hays and Mrs. David McKenna, served the group a tempting repast. It was decided to hold another joint meeting on Friday evening, June 18, at the church.

Turks Tint Streets As Aid To Traffic

ISTANBUL, April 26.—An ingenious scheme for dividing the city into different color zones with scarlet streets for pedestrians, is being put into force in Istanbul.

Buildings, municipal kiosks and taxi stands in Pera (the European quarter of the city, are painted grey. The main part of the Oriental section, the Old Stamboul, will be brown.

A light shade will be used for the more important thoroughfares, with shades varying from light to cocoa and the darkest cholocate brown will be used for "secondary" and "third-grade" roads.

Scarlet paint will be used for streets allotted to "pedestrians only".

Light blue and green are the colors which have been chosen for the suburban streets.

A countryman may dress up but you can recognize him still by the quantity of food he defines as a snack.

Moral indignation is a fine thing if it isn't mixed up with resentment because you can't play that way any more.

Theory Of Lie Detector Eight Centuries Old

Case Of Love Sickness In 1150 Led To First Discovery Of Lie Machine

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH—The lie detector, science's latest weapon in crime detection, is almost eight centuries old.

As proof Dr. Joseph H. Barach, medical director of the University of Pittsburgh's Falk clinic, relates the following story:

"There once was a young man in a Persian town back in the year 1150 who was sick of a disease the doctors couldn't diagnose.

"But one old doctor took one look at the ill youth, felt his pulse, then sent for a man well acquainted with all the streets in the town. As the man called off the streets the doctor felt the boy's pulse. Suddenly it jumped.

Applies Test

"Stop," said the physician. "Now name all the families that live on that street."

"The man did, until the physician again cried: 'Stop. Do they have a pretty young girl in that family you just named?'

"'Yes,' was the answer.

"The ancient physician's 'lie detector'—the youth's pulse—diagnosed the illness as love sickness."

"It's comforting to know," said Dr. Barach, "that in this modern age of gadgets people once got along without them."

Orientals aren't braver than our people. They just have so little to lose that death doesn't seem to matter.

Killing the rich wouldn't help much. We'd still envy the handsome fellows who attract all the ladies.

ANTS DIE INSTANTLY

—when you drop a little Cyanogas Ant-Killer into the entrance to the nest. It is simple and sure.

To destroy the ant colony you must kill the Queen. She never leaves the deep recesses of the nest. Probe down 6 or 8 inches with a pointed stick to reach the lower galleries. Insert the spout of the can and pour in a small amount of Cyanogas Ant-Killer. Then close the hole.

The gas does the work—penetrates all through the nest. The Queen and worker ants are killed instantly.

This 4-oz. 30c-size contains enough Cyanogas to kill a million ants.

Stocks Move In Narrow Range

Little Change In Prices On New York Stock Market This Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 24.—The stock market turned downward today after a firm opening.

There was no apparent effect of the death of John D. Rockefeller. Standard Oil stocks moved in a narrow range around the previous close.

Steels were up a point and more at the start, led by U. S. Steel, but lost their gains and more by midday. Bethlehem lost a point and U. S. Steel was down fractionally.

General Motors was weighed down slightly by the fresh labor troubles in a Chevrolet plant. Chrysler lost an early gain of more than a point. Nash Kelvinator was an independent strong spot in the group.

Rails were all lower with the exception of Baltimore & Ohio. Atchison was depressed by official admission of deterioration of the winter wheat crop in its territory Great Northern lost over a point and N. Y. Central nearly as much.

Utilities showed better support than most sections. American Water Works was up over a point at one time and held part of its gain. Consolidated Edison, however, was inclined to sag.

Coppers were higher for a while and then turned irregularly lower. Rubbers sagged. Aviations were mostly lower, as were the amusements with the exception of Loew's. Western Union ran counter to the downtrend in the communications. General Electric lost a point.

While corn was strong, most grains were down and commodities generally mixed. Bonds were irregularly higher.

Ward Churches Hear Male Chorus Sunday

New Castle Male Chorus Present Concert Before Large Crowd At Union Service

Before a union congregation of Methodist, Presbyterian and Christian church members, the New Castle Male chorus presented an excellent concert of music on Sunday evening in the Madison Avenue Christian church.

The chorus under the direction of Miss Gwadlys Thomas, sang groups of favorite numbers. Also on the program of the evening was a violin solo by Patricia Ann Taylor, who recently competed in the annual Welsh Eisteddfod, at Warren, Ohio. Rev. Milton E. Shearer presided over the services of the evening and was assisted by Rev. D. C. Schnebly and Rev. C. H. Hagadorn.

At the conclusion of the program the male singers gathered at the home of James Martin on West Madison avenue where Mrs. Martin, aided by Mrs. John Bevan served refreshments.

FLOWERS STOLEN

The saying goes that it takes all kinds of people to make a world, but some get just a little more than their share of meanness, as was proven the other evening, when some women deliberately walked off with over half of the blooms from the lovely tulip bed at the seventh ward fire department.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Monday: Miss Pearl Kerr will entertain members of the Standard Bearer society at her home on West Cherry street this evening at 7:30 o'clock.
